

a multi-agency approach to safeguard adults. However, occasionally situations arise when staff within one agency feel that the actions, inaction or decisions of another agency do not adequately safeguard an adult at risk of abuse or neglect. Such situations have been highlighted in several Safeguarding Adult Reviews. CSAB have published multi-agency guidance defines the process for resolving such professional differences. You can read the guidance here.

CSAB Information Sharing Guidance

Frontline staff and managers can be over-cautious about sharing personal information, particularly if it is against the wishes of the individual concerned. They may also be mistaken about needing hard evidence or consent to share information. The risk of sharing information is often perceived as higher than it actually is. It is important that staff consider the risks of not sharing safeguarding information when making decisions.

This can often present challenges for professional relationships across disciplines where there is uncertainty about sharing information. You can read more in CSAB's Information Sharing Guidance which includes useful links and signposting to raise awareness about responsibilities to share information.

Bias & Unconscious Bias: how does it impact on relationships Lunch & Learn opportunity

We are pleased to confirm and offer a new and additional learning opportunity, during the week of action, on Friday 22nd November 2024 12 noon - 1pm.

The virtual lunch & learn session will provide an understanding of the term, Malignant Alienation and support participants to reflect and consider the impact on professional and client/patient relationship, that can lead to conscious and unconscious bias for practice.

The session will support participants to reflect and consider the impact on professional & client/patient relationship.

Please click here to book your free place.

CSAB news, briefings & resources

CSAB have developed a National Safeguarding Adults Week 2024 section of our website here where you will find details of lunch & learn sessions and daily news briefings!

You can sign up here to CSAB newsletters and briefings direct to your inbox.

Follow us on X @cumbriasab.

You can access all of the resources, guidance and information in relation to 'SAW2024' on the CSAB website

Concerned about an adult?

If you are concerned that an adult may be at risk of abuse or neglect and cannot protect themselves. You can report your concerns to Adult Social Care;

